VETERINARY ADVICE.

BY DR. H. D. LINKER, HOPE, ARK.

TO OUR READERS: This column is edited by Dr. H. D. Linker, Hope, Arkansas, and he will answer all letters addressed to him by readers of the PRESS regarding any disease of livestock and how to treat it. This service is free to readers of the PRESS.

INTERNAL HINDRANCES TO EASY MILKING.

Especially in the winter time, even the gentlest of cows become fractious and unruly when being milked. This is generally caused either by a soreness or inflammation of the udder, or by chapped teats or warts or growths upon the teats. The two latter causes are really the most common and are the easiest overcome.

CHAPPED TEATS.

These may be caused by anything which irritates them. The powerful sucking of the calf; the sudden chilling of the teat in winter after the calf has just let go, or after the completion of milking with a wet hand; contact with cold water, or stagnant putrid water, or with filth or irritants when lying down; slight congestions of the skin in connection with over-stocking; and, indeed, any source of local irritation may cause chapping. This may be slight or extended into great gaping sores and induce retention of milk or even inflammation of the bag.

Soothing applications of vaseline, or a combination of equal parts of spermaceti and oil of sweet almonds may be applied. If healing is tardy, add ten grains balsam of Peru to the ounce of ointment. If the irritation is very great, wash first with a solution of the following:

Sugar of Lead 1 dram,
Water 1 pint.

Then apply benzonated oxide of zinc ointment.

WARTS ON THE TEATS.

These are often very troublesome, yet they may be greatly benefited or entirely removed by smearing them thickly after each milking with pure olive oil. If they persist they may be cut off with a sharp pair of scissors and the sore touched with a stick of lunar caustic. They may now be oiled and the caustic repeated as demanded to prevent their renewed growth.

SCABBY TEATS may be smeared with vaseline containing enough carbolic acid to give it an odor.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

RUGBY, TENNESSEE, MARCH 12, 1921.

To the Citizens of Morgan County:

You are advocates of improvement of our public road system. Your homes and your interests are here, and you are on the alert for your county's advancement. You are aware that the basis for such advancement is good roads. You are further aware that the development of a county is as fast as, but no faster than, the development of its highways. We want road improvement; we need it; we must have it. The logical way to get it is to all put our shoulders to the wheel.

With revised road laws more suitable to the needs of present conditions, and with the pending betterment of our county's financial affairs, the dawn of a new era in road matters appears. Every progressive policy submitted in connection with road construction and maintenance should, and, I feel, strongly appeal to the approval of our public-spirited citizenship, and will be championed.

I am ever mindful of the responsibilities incident to a proper conduct of the affairs of the office you entrusted to me, and I am giving undivided attention to my duties. On your part there is, I feel, a realization that your unwavering support is essential if the ends to which we aspire are to be attained.

I feel that you are in full accord with all measures looking to improvement of this county's road system, and with my purpose to get the affairs of your Department of Roads systematized and upon a basis which will enable us to proceed to advantage. I have no intention to merely dray through my term of office, nor to dally with matters calling for earnest thought and effort.

I feel that you will, at all times, in all matters submitted to you, and to the full extent of your ability, cheerfully co-operate with me. To the end that the welfare of your roads may be promoted; I must have your confidence and loyalty; I have confidence in myself, and I have confidence in you, and, under concerted support, and in the presence of unity of purpose, and co-ordination of endeavor, we can, and will, make this department of public service an institution for effective service. We will all be partners to this end. Bear in mind, "In unison there is strength"; every progressive citizen in this county is a unit in the organization for the up-keep of our thoroughfares. I am counting on you.

I have need of your help right now. The purchase of additional road tools implies an item of expense which, in the interests of economy, and of making our funds go as far as possible, I desire to keep down to a minimum. From time to time this county has bought road tools, and road working machinery; you have a personal interest in our road working equipment. Why? because you, as tax-payers, are contributors to the general fund out of which it is purchased.

In order to know our needs with reference to equipment for maintaining our roads. I must first procure an inventory of the tools now scattered over this county. You can help. I earnestly solicit your assistance in determining the location of, and in listing, these tools. An item of consequence of your money is invested in them. Without undue delay I must learn what tools there are, where they are—with reference to Civil District and place of storage and their condition. The time draws near when you look for relief on your roads, and certain it is that we can not proceed without proper equipment. Upon getting a record of our tools I will keep track of them.

Let me have your energetic help in this matter. Interest yourselves in your respective districts and communities; start a general inquiry along the lines in mention. In this manner we will locate every road tool this county possesses, and ascertain just what equipment we have for an unusually large amount of road work pending for this year, and I will be able to arrange to supply such additional tools as may be necessary.

You people want better roads; I want you to have them. Therefore, rally to me, that my program may go forward.

Faithfully yours,

W. T. WALTON,

Superintendent.
